MACK TELLS WHO PUT UP THE MONEY

MURPHY GAVE $10,000 IN ATTEMPT TO ELECT BRYAN.

GUFFEY'S GIFT TURNED DOWN

No Corporation Money—The Democratic Chairman Admits He Allowed Guffey
Help Pay Bills After Bryan
Had Been Defeated.

Washington, Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, chairman of the Democratic national committee during the last campaign, testified before Senator Clapp's committee.
In his testimony before the committee
Mr. Mack explained the splendid campaign work performed by certain great newspapers in the matter of raising contributions.

The official report of expenditures which the committee filed at Albany in conformity with the New York state law, Mr. Mack said, was absolutely correct and covered every dollar contributed.

Chairman Clapp asked who were the largest contributors to the 1908 campaign.

"The largest was Mr. Murphy," replied Mr. Mack. "He contributed $10,000. The books before the senate committee show that such a sum was contributed in the name of Isaac Murphy Ball."

"Senator Clapp of Montana contributed $2,000 to the Chicago headquarters and, I think, about $2,000 to the New York headquarters," Mr. Mack added.

"Several people offered funds, but they were refused and they have rather passed the standard off."

"Why were they refused?" asked Senator Jones.

"You probably suspect why," returned Mr. Mack. "I was at Denver at the convention and saw Mr. Bryan. He then and later said that he did not want contributions from corporations. It was his right and his campaign, and I felt I should keep faith with him and not accept any offer from a corporation or other source that was not desirable."

"Col. Guffey offered to contribute $5,000; he said it was the first time in his life that he had not contributed. I told him I would like to accept it, but could not."

"Why did you refuse?" persisted Senator Jones. "Did he represent a corporation?"

"Whether he represented a corporation or not, it was reported he represented the Standard Oil."

Mr. Mack added that after Mr. Bryan had been defeated, he, as chairman, accepted the Guffey contribution.

"That is the only instance where I accepted money from a source where I knew it was not from a corporation," Mr.
Mack said. "I did not think it was betraying Mr. Bryan's confidence by getting money to pay bills."

Mr. Mack told the committee he wants to correct the impression that only 25,000 persons contributed to the campaign fund of $625,000. He placed the number of contributors at about 100,000.

In many instances a large number of persons contributed under a single name, he explained.

CHANGING THE CONSTITUTION

Senator LaFollette Proposes Changes in Matter of Amending.

Washington, Senator LaFollette, by a resolution, proposed a radical change in the method of amending the constitution of the United States.

At present, the ratification of the two houses of congress would have authority to propose a constitutional amendment, or it might be proposed on the petition of ten states acting through their legislatures or through popular vote.

Approval by a majority of the electors in a majority of the states, but would also require the approval of a majority of all electors voting upon the question.

under Lieut. James A. Campbell, Jr., was

GRAIN DEALERS WIN RATE FIGHT

MEMPHIS DEALERS ELATED OVER
ORDER OF COMMISSION.

VICTORY FOR BLUFF CITY

Illinois Central and Frisco Railroads Said to Be Chief Lines in the Discrimination Against Memphis Grain Men.

Washington, In the matter of the complaint of the Memphis Hay and Grain Association and the individual grain dealers composing it against the Frisco and Illinois Central railroads concerning the rules governing the transit privilege, the complainants lost in their attempt to have the rules changed, but won when the commission decided that the carriers must establish reshipping rates so as to put Memphis on an equality with Chicago, St. Louis and Ohio river crossings where the transit rates are less stringent.

These reshipping rates are to be made in such a way that the Memphis dealers may bring grain into Memphis on one rate, ship it out on another to the point of consumption at a total charge no greater than for grain movements for like distances through Chicago, St. Louis and other grain markets which compete with Memphis in Southwestern and Carolina territory.

In court clad in blankets
Arkansas Boys Took Clothes to Pieces to Prevent Trial.

Fayetteville, Ark.—As a resort to break up the troublesome gang of juvenile robbers in this city, County Judge Grier sentenced John Snoden, Leslie Chambers, Harmon Alexander and Featherston to the state reformatory school.

The boys range from 7 to 12 years of age, but they have broken into almost every store in town. The four young sters were arrested and placed in the local jail. When the court tried them they were found to be armed with a knife that they had stripped all their clothes and had torn them into shreds. It was necessary to wrap blankets around them in order to bring them into court.

$15,000 FOR DRAINAGE

Big Louisiana Electric Power and Drainage Company Planned.

Baton Rouge, La.—A $15,000,000 corporation for reclamation and drainage purposes and the development of electrical power in Southwest Louisiana has been practically formed, according to representations made to the state tax commissioner by Wetmore Bradford, representing New Orleans.

The plan is to divert water from the Red river by means of a natural and artificial waterway system through the southwestern portion of the state to supply irrigation and power for electrical transportation in that section.

CHINESE LOAN HELD UP

Provincial Governments Give Money to Meet Expenses.

Washington, While negotiations for the $200,000,000 loan are deadlocked, provincial governments of the new Chinese republic are supplying the funds for its conduct by contributing sums which are largely formerly supplied to the old dynasty.

Word comes to Washington that the provincial governments are opposing the loan, which they believe would place China completely under the domination of foreign powers. Although American bankers were to participate in the new financing, it is said in diplomatic circles that if China could get the money in any other way the abandonment of the loan project would be viewed with equanimity by the United States.

DRASTIC CORPORATION BILL

Would Exclude Illegal Combines From Interstate Trade.

Washington, Chairman Stanley of the steel investigating committee, presented the most drastic of all the bills he has drawn for the purpose of controlling corporations. Mr. Stanley, by his law, would prevent trusts, after being dissolved, from doing business in a way to cheat the public and the court.

The bill would prohibit concerns engaged in interstate commerce from getting stock in other concerns, or having control stock held by other concerns of buying and selling their own stock; prohibit overcapitalization, excessive or-holdings, operation of companies carried by individuals under penalties of heavy fines and long terms of imprisonment.

Vetoes Probi Bill

Atlanta, Ga.—Gov. Joseph M. Brown retold the Alexander-Tippins bill, which prohibited the sale in this state of "barber" and so limited the percentage of alcohol as an ingredient that any present medicine would have been excluded from sale. In his veto message, he legislature the governor declared the measure was entirely too drastic and took the lawmakers to task for trying to "play politics." He said if people enforced the present prohibition law it would seem sufficient.

COUNTRY COUSIN

Does it Tells Here?

COTTON ADVANCED IN MOST SECTIONS

TEXAS DETERIORATED ON AC-COUNT OF DRY, HOT WEATHER.

FEW INSECT COMPLAINTS

Boll Weevil in Infected Territory, but Damage Is Small—Crop Has Reached Limit of Progress
Without More Moisture.

The cotton crop advanced in all sections of the belt save Texas and Georgia during the last week.

In Texas there was considerable deterioration on account of dry weather, with extraordinarily high temperatures during the first half of the week. The plant showed many blights, squares and young bolls and many of the other bolls were caused to open prematurely.

In Georgia perhaps 50 per cent of the crop advanced, while the other 50 per cent deteriorated on account of dry, hot weather, making the condition of the state as a whole about a standstill with last week. In some localities where improvement was noted the limit of advancement was reached without rain.

In the remainder of the belt good progress was made, the advancement having been most marked in the central valley and the states west of the Mississippi river outside of Texas. The plant grew well and fruited in a satisfactory manner. While the plant will probably never attain a full growth as compared with other years, there are indications that it will make up for lack of size by fruiting heavily. This especially is true in Western states. In Eastern states the plant is large and fruiting not so good.

Insect damage to the crop to date has been negligible, although boll weevil are reported in moderate quantities from nearly all infected districts. Save for Louisiana, the West is remarkably free from this pest and his appearance east of the river has been mainly confined to the central valley.

TENNESSEAN RUNS AMUCK

Colorado Hotel.

South Platte, Colo.—George Ballou, aged 29 years, a native of Tennessee, ran amuck at a summer hotel here, shot and perhaps fatally wounded three persons, set fire to the hotel and for several hours held the summer colony in terror, threatening to shoot the first one to open his mouth.

For several hours after the shooting Ballou held the summer colony in terror, threatening to shoot the first one to open his mouth.

Postpone Wilson Case.
Washington, Action on charges of impropriety on the part of Secretary Wilson made by Representative Akers of New York, because Mr. Wilson's accepted a position with a Colorado irrigation project, has been indefinitely postponed by the house committee on impropriety. Mr. Akers declined to submit his proof to the committee because a statement by Secretary Wilson had been heard during his absence and threatens to revive the charges in a speech on the floor of the house.

Archbald Trial Postponed

of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the nomination, may be treasurer of the Democratic national campaign committee.

No Man's Land

A ROMANCE

By Louis Joseph Vance

Illustrations by Ray Walters

Garrett Coast, a young man of New York City, meets Douglas Blacklock, who invites him to a card party. He accepts, although he dislikes Blacklock, the first of a series of meetings. Blacklock is unworshipful of her friendship. At the party Coast meets a girl named Dundas and Van. There is a quarrel and Blacklock shoots. Van is killed. Coast is arrested for murder. He is convicted, but as he begins his sentence, Dundas fellow Blacklock, the murderer, kills himself. Coast is released, but Blacklock and Van are still there. Coast is thrown from a distant boat. He rescues the fellow who is named Applehead. They arrive at a lonely island, known as No Man's Land. Coast starts out to explore the place and comes upon some deserted buildings. He discovers a man living in a house he sees Katherine Thaxter, who explains that her husband, under the name of Blacklock, has brought the island. He is blind, a wireless operator and has a station there. Coast informs her that her husband murdered Van. Coast sees Blacklock. "You are at him, but he is rescued by Applehead, and there he reveals that he is a secret service man."

"The window was open—it was warm enough for that—and because of the fog I could stand quite near and see what was taking place inside without being seen. It was a goodish sized room, one of three under a single roof, by all appearances, and stuffed full of apparatus of various kinds. There was a big gas motor singing away at one end, running a dynamo. Right near the window was a heavy table with all the paraphernalia of a wireless station.

"There was a young man standing right by the table, evidently just out of his chair. He was taking off the telephone headpiece when I first saw him. He looked to be under thirty, and wore red hair and a good coat of sunburn; and he was much cleaner than the man who was standing just inside a doorway leading to another room. That door was closed. The second man was evidently just out of bed; he had a crash bathrobe pulled round him, with his pyjamas showing underneath, and beefy, naked ankles running into bed-room slippers. They were having it hot and heavy, ripping out at each other straight from the shoulder.

"I don't know—didn't start the row, and I ended just after I came within hearing. The younger chap was saying—he had a bit of a brogue: 'Don't let that trouble you, Mister Black. I'll have you know I wired for a relief last night, while you were at dinner, and the minute you foot on this damned island, I leave it, nor will I be resting till I've turned in my report at the home office. Put that in your pipe, now.'

"Black (as he called him) seemed to lose control of himself for an instant. He sort of lurched forward, his hands working as if he was going to throw himself at the younger man's throat; then he caught up, thinking better of it, as if he knew the other fellow had grabbed the chair by the back and stood ready to brain him with it; which he couldn't have known, for it turned out he was blind. 'If I had my sight, he said, and could lay hands on you, Power, I'd break every bone in your body.'

"That staked Mr. Power to an ugly laugh—the kind of a laugh that calculated to make the other chap's blood boil. 'Divvy a doubt of that,' says he; 'but well you know I'd stop at nothing to protect myself against a brute like you, Mr. Black. And what's more' (I thought he tried to hold his tongue, but couldn't); this last seemed fairly to burst out of him: 'I warn you if ever again I see you lay finger on that unhappy woman, your wife, I'll murder you with the first weapon that comes handy. Remember that.'

"Black was white with rage by this time; I don't think he could have held in much longer. As it happened, just then the door behind him opened, and a woman in a dressing gown stepped into the room. She was ghastly pale, frightened to death, but otherwise just about the prettiest woman I ever laid eyes on. She said just one word in a pitiful voice—'Douglas'—and touched her husband's arm; but I saw her eyes were praying Power to go. He saw it too.

"'Very well, then,' he said with a little bow to the woman. 'I'll be going now.'

"'And you needn't come back,' said the man he called Black. 'I'll do without you until your successor comes.'

"That suited me to T. T. says Power. 'Good morning, Mrs. Black; I'm sorry we woke you up.'

"Black listened to the footsteps, with that world expression the dead and blind have, for some seconds after he had lost the sound of them; then he shook himself and said to the woman resignation yesterday evening. Those were his words, in effect—as nearly as I can remember them. He added something offensive about that being the finish of that flirtation, and that he'd thank her to leave the next opportunity. She said: 'Oh, yes—' and he hit her with a whip. Then he got up and announced that he was going to the farmhouse to get some breakfast. It was then just getting a little light. He said she needn't hurry, that he would probably be at the beach by the time she came to breakfast—wanted to find out which boat Power had taken. Then he went away, and the woman shut the door again.

This time I let Black take his road alone; I'd other fish to fry. I could hear his wife moving about in the other part of the building and judged she was dressing; but she took an interminable time to it. In the course of the next century, or two, however, she came out, dressed, and took the path to the farmhouse. I let her go, timed myself as close as I could, and dodged into the wireless room. It was taking a chance; I knew that if Black returned my life wouldn't be worth a playman, but I had to know Voorsla's message.

'I started the motor and called New York. When they answered I gave Black's signal and demanded a repetition of the message. That was taking another chance; the operator at the other end might recognize the difference in my style of sending and refuse me. But he may have been sleepy; at all events he obliged without comment. Voorsla had wireless power gave notice he was leaving yesterday evening. New man on way should reach New Bedford this morning, island by evening, conditions favoring Name, John Handyside. It is in my confidence.

That was the substance of it. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

STATE DEMANDS YOUR CO-OPERATION

OTHERWISE THERE WILL BE NO FARMERS' INSTITUTES.

WILL SAVE USELESS EXPENSE

Institutes Will Be Held in Those Counties Only Where People Show Appreciation of the Work Being Done.

Frankfort.—Commissioner of Agriculture Newman is making arrangements for conducting county farmers' institutes this fall, but has adopted the policy of basing on local cooperation in the work. Speaking of his plan, Commissioner Newman said: "I do not intend to put the State to the expense of conducting the mockery of a county farmers' institute this year in counties where the people don't seem to want them. The law, I know, specifies that a county institute shall be conducted for at least two days each year in every county in the State, but there is no penalty attached, and I don't think the department will be subject to criticism if in the exercise of sound discretion, we refrain from perpetrating a farce at the public expense. I have known institutes to be held at an expense of $75 a day and only two people in the community show enough interest in it to attend. That is, the State's money and accomplished nothing good. The institutes are for the benefit of the agricultural community in which they are held, but if the people are not interested and do not attend, the mere presence of the experts in that vicinity will neither enrich the soil, benefit the breed of live stock nor improve the methods of cultivation. It is up to the counties to show the department that they want institutes. Then they will get the best the department can give them."

Three experts, not merely men who have acquired some interesting information about farming, but men capable of demonstrating and instructing, and I intend that those communities which are alive to their needs and advantages shall have help. We will help them until they are willing to be helped."

"I am hearing from a number of counties and the letters I receive indicate the interest in institutes is growing, so I do not wish to convey the impression that the State is improving and growing in favor. Some of these counties will have two or three institutes in different sections so that as many as possible can be reached. They are securing halls and providing heat and light for them, and the department knows the institutes will bring results."

BLUE SPEAKS FOR GRAY.

Former Union Soldier Recommends Applicant for Pension.

Lexington.—Typifying the spirit which now exists between the Union and the Confederate veterans, who happened to County Judge Scott for a pension, was given a recommendation and testimony necessary for the pension being given by M. R. Conner, veteran of the Union army. The men laughingly recalled the days when they were opposed to each other in battle when making application to Judge Scott for Montague's pension, and Mr. Conner assured the judge that his present friend and former foe was in every way worthy and deserving of a pension.

Looking For a Forester.

Frankfort.—Gov. McCreary is having some difficulty finding a State forester. He wishes to appoint a native Kentuckian, who is a graduate of some school of forestry, and as there is no such school in the State and the science has but recently developed sufficiently to attract many to its study, he has been able to recommend several now in the government service. One of them was a Kentucky boy, but he is drawing $3,000 salary while the State offers only $2,500.

Busy Laying Steel.

Whiteburg.—The track laying gang on the Lexington & Eastern railroad building up the North Fork into the coal fields has reached Corbinville, on the Letcher-Perry border, and with nothing in the way laying will be completed into the Whitesburg by September 1, while McRobertson, on Wright's Fork, will be reached by October.

Morgan's Men Reunion.

The annual reunion of the John H. Morgan Association will be held at Exill Springs August 21 and 22. Those in charge have advised members to reach the springs by the evening of August 20. The hotel rate will be $1.75 per day.

Miracle Must Die.

Frankfort.—Cal Miracle, the Bell county murderer, is condemned to die Friday, August 30. Miracle is to be electrocuted at the Edwalle penitentiary. Miracle shot and killed Dulcie Partin, near Pineville.

Cynthiana.—The Harrison County Teachers' Institute will be held in the city school auditorium here, beginning August 19, and continuing five days.

Famous Farm Sold.

Elizabethtown.—John L. Helm has sold the Helm place near this city, to Messrs. S. Bond, W. C. J. C. and Brock-Montgomery. The farm contains 1,062 acres, and the consideration was $75,000. The Helm place was formerly the home of the late Gov. Helm and is well known all over the state.

SOME NICE DESSERTS.

Angel Parfait.—Roll together a cup of sugar and a third of a cup of boiling water; pour over the well beaten whites of two eggs. When cold fold in a pint of double cream. Whip. Pack in half pound baking powder cans and place in equal parts of ice and salt to mold. Let stand four hours, then unmold and serve with fresh raspberries. This amount serves eight.

Dainty Dessert.—When one has plenty of cream there are endless varieties of most delicious dishes which may be prepared on short notice. Chop a half cup of blanched almonds, cut in quarters a cup of marshmallows, add sugar to taste and stir into a pint of whipped cream. Put a spoonful of this on slices of chilled pineapple. The pineapple may be shredded and the mixture served in a sherbet cup, tasting full as well.

Hybrid Produces New Hybrid.

A new fruit made its appearance at the Horticultural hall at the ordinary meeting of the Royal Horticultural Society of England. It is called the "newberry," and is a cross between the loganberry and the raspberry. It has the flavor of the raspberry without the core, and, as it is much larger than either of the types from which it has sprung, is likely to be a very valuable addition to the dessert. The newberry is a hybrid between the loganberry and the blackberry, produced some 30 years ago by Judge Logan of California.

Works In the Garden Now.

Grown old in the service of his master and mistress, James was a privileged retainer. He was waiting at table one day, when a guest politely asked for a fish fork. Strangely enough, the request was ignored. Then the hostess noticed the episode and remarked in a most peremptory manner: "James, Mrs. Jones hasn't a fish fork. Get her one at once!" "Madam, I came the emphatic reply, 'last time Mrs. Jones dined here we lost a fish fork.'"

Music Sent Over the Wire.

The latest yarn of the press agent tells how an operetta company discovered when it reached Toronto, Canada, from New York that the music for the orchestra had been left behind. What was to be done? The performance must be given at night, and no copies of the score could be bought. It was decided that the score must be dispatched by telegraph. So, the story runs, a wire was kept working for seven hours, while a man in New York translated the score into the alphabet, stating the position of every note. Up in Canada the musical director was busy at work turning the dispatch into musical notation.

Mike Amazed.

Jerry was treating Mike to a trolley ride, says Judge. The conductor, a good-looking young Irishman, came through, collecting the fares. Mike watched his progress with great interest. Presently he turned to Jerry with tears in his eyes. "Jerry," he said huskily, "I've a lump in me throat."

"What for?" demanded Jerry.

"'Tis the gladness of me that's too big to swallow," said Mike. "Every American has the big, generous heart! I've mind the poor young fellow 'till the blue cap." 'Tis beginn' his livin' he is. I saw him hold out his hand to twenty-seven people, and every blessed wan of them gave him a nickel!"

THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1912

Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for President of the Progressive party convention yesterday upon a platform of his own making, in a scene of enthusiasm by a unanimous vote. Col. William W. Johnson, of California, was nominated for Vice President in like manner. The nomination of acceptance by the candidates followed immediately after the convention had registered its choice. The platform adopted was quite lengthy, and states the well known convictions of Col. Roosevelt. One of the speeches seconding the nomination was made by Miss Jane Addams. The new party adopted the official name of the Progressive party. The convention adjourned at 7:15 p. m. Col. Roosevelt announced that he would campaign forty states.

With measured emphasis, Gov. Woodrow Wilson unfolds his political beliefs in a speech for accepting the Democratic nomination for the presidency at Seagirt, N. J., yesterday. Officially there was a committee of fifty-two, representing every State and Territory, present, and besides the committee a large number of spectators. Senator-elect Ollie M. James, of Kentucky, chairman of the Nominating Committee, delivered a speech notifying Gov. Wilson of his nomination. The speech was made from the veranda of the Governor's summer home. The speech of acceptance was read from manuscript.

The Board of Prison Commissioners made a number of changes yesterday the chief of which was the appointment of John M. Chilton, of Christian county, as warden of the Eddyville penitentiary to succeed E. T. Hagerman, and that of Henry Cox, of West Liberty, as employment agent for paroled prisoners.

Oliver Stubblefield, son of Nathan Stubblefield and wife, just west of the city, and who was making his home the past few months with Wiley Utterback, north of the city, left the place last Thursday about noon with a jug of water for the field where he was employed and has not been seen since. A thorough search has been made for the young man but without success. He was about 12 or 14 years of age.

CUTTING AFFRAY

Mansard Lovier and B. B. Denham Engage in Difficulty and Latter Seriously Injured With Knife.

B. B. Denham and Mansard Lovier, both well known citizens of the county, engaged in a difficulty Tuesday morning at the story at Harris Grove and as a result Mr. Denham was cut with a knife by Mr. Lovier and his condition has been critical since. Three wounds were inflicted, one across the bowels and stomach, one in the breast and one on the arm. Denham was almost disembowelled.

The best information we can learn concerning the difficulty is that Lovier was charged with shooting a hog belonging to Esq. W. W. Denham and which it seems was in Lovier's field at the time. It is alleged that B. B. Denham saw the shooting, and had been summoned to appear before the grand jury that is now in session concerning the matter. He was at the store Tuesday morning en-route to town when Lovier met him there. The matter was brought up while the men were sitting in the store and it is said that Denham agreed with Lovier that if he would pay for the hog that he would see that the matter was dropped and should not go into court. It is alleged that Lovier said that he would not pay for the hog and told Denham that if he went before the grand jury and made certain statements that he would be swearing a lie, and started towards Denham with his knife open. Denham got down off of the counter where he was sitting and picked up a chair and as he started to strike, Lovier cut him across the bowels inflicting a wound about six or seven inches long and then in the breast and arm.

Lovier was arrested and brought to town Tuesday afternoon and carried before Circuit Judge Hanbery and sent to jail. He executed bond in the sum of $2,000 Thursday morning and was released.

Mr. Denham was carried to his home and medical aid summoned. He is seriously wounded but his condition at this hour is considerably improved and hopes are now held out that he will recover.

Manning failed to give bond and was sent back to jail. —Mayfield Messenger.

Here's a Murray fact.

J. A. Ellison, Murray, Ky., says:

"I have had no occasion to use any kidney remedy since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me some years ago. My cure has remained permanent. You are at liberty to use my statement as heretofore." (Statement given January 30, 1912.)

The statement to which Mr. Ellison refers was given in February 1908 and was in substance as follows: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be effective in relieving backache and other symptom of kidney trouble. I suffered a long time with lame back and often was hardly able to stoop. The trouble was to get out of bed. I took a great many remedies in an effort to get relief, but received no benefit until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished the contents of two boxes; I was feeling like a different man and all the symptoms of my trouble disappeared."

REDDEN WINS FIGHT

"Squabble" Among Local Republicans Carried Before State Committee and Dave Redden Wins Contest.

Dave Redden has won his fight in this county for the chairmanship of the Calloway County Republican Committee. The contest was finally decided at a meeting of the state central committee at Louisville this week. The contest arose over the election of precinct committeemen in this county some few months ago at which time there was some division. However, at the Mayfield meeting Redden was recognized by the district committee, Mr. Landrum, and carried the contest to the state committee, which convened in Louisville Thursday of this week.

The county committee that will be regularly recognized is composed of the following members: D. L. Redden, chairman; South-east Murray, C. H. ## AN ANSWER, NOT SOFT, BUT EFFECTIVE

TRUST GRIP TIGHTENS

MEAT BARONS REACHING OUT FOR OTHER FIELDS.

Plan is to Exploit Argentina and Australia—Dissolution of Trust Will Not Bring Relief to Consumer.

It is announced that the "beef trust" is no more. Attorneys for the National Packing company have notified the government that its constituent companies have taken over their properties. The Swift interests got the O. H. Hammond company, the Omaha Packing company plant at Chicago, the St. Louis Dressed Beef and Provision company and the United Dressed Beef company of New York. J. O. Oden Armour takes over the Powell Packing company, the Anglo-American Provision company, and the New York Butchers Dressed Beef and Provision company. Morris & Co. get the Omaha Packing company's plant at South Omaha.

While it is an excellent practice to be optimistic it may be well to withhold approval of the dissolution. The beef trust escaped punishment only recently, so why capitulate now? Representative Kinkaid, a New Jersey Democrat, is not much of an optimist. In a speech in the house delivered before the announced "dissolution," Mr. Kinkaid urged the removal of the tariff on meat. He believed in the proposed dissolution would not relieve the consumer. He said:

"The packers... exported last year more than a hundred million dollars' worth of meat, but there was no competition from without. If we defeat the beef trust and reduce the cost of meat, which has been felt by every man, woman and child in this country, let us remove the tax from all meat. Let imports come in from Canada, Australia, Argentina, Mexico or from any other country, and there will be hope for relief from the exorbitant prices now exacted."

More than two years ago there was agitation for the importation of meat from Argentina. Then, as now, the American packers said that home production was falling off. In part, they were right. But later it became known that the speakers were constructing plants in the southern republics, thus attempting to forestall any move to relieve the situation in the United States by importing meats from Argentina. About the time the government lost its case against the beef trust at Chicago, attention was called to Australia. Americans were reminded that Australian meats are regularly shipped to England, so why not to the United States.

Now comes the following cable from London, which speaks for itself: "A dispatch to the Chronicle from Melbourne says that Australian meat exporters are alarmed at the news that the Swifts are setting up big meat packing works at Brisbane, and ask the government to interfere to protect trade against the American trust methods."

The reader can not help but wonder whether the situation thus presented would have confronted the American householder today if the Sherman antitrust law had been enforced from the beginning. The trust would then not have grown so strong as to reach out and threaten even the possibility of foreign competition.

Sound Doctrine.

Up at the top of the Democratic platform are the words: "The high Republican tariff is the principal cause of the unequal distribution of wealth. That is sound doctrine. Of all the measures proposed or contemplated to improve the condition of the masses of the people, none has in it so much promise of practical benefit, of correction of existing evils, of equities and distributives, and discouragement of wild and novel proposals as the reform of the tariff by downward revision."

ABIDING FAITH IN ALL MEN

Broadmindedness of Governor Marshall is Shown in Recent Interview With Him.

"I believe in a tariff for revenue only. I believe we should not turn to something else before we have taken care of that. The initiative and referendum can wait. I am sometimes tempted to think that the malign side of big business is stirring up these new issues in order that the tariff question may be snowed under and forgotten. But it ought not to be forgotten. I have heard about these infant industries that need protection and I have seen them; seen them taking advantage of one dollar of protection to take three dollars more out of our pockets, out of your pockets and mine. But I do not believe in denouncing and condemning them. They are men, our brothers. This thing can't be solved by hatred; it can only be solved by brotherly love. Put it to them as men, put it to their sense of honor and generosity, put it to the spirit of idealism in their hearts and they will respond. I have no use for the man who makes his pile by crooked means and low tricks and then, when he has made his pile, turns round and tries to buy public opinion by gifts and benefactions. Let us begin right now and cut out the crooked ways and mean tricks. Appeal to him as a man, appeal to what is generous in him, and he will do it. He is only the victim of a low general standard of success. Do as what is noble in him, for much in him is noble, and he will turn on himself and deal generously."—Governor Marshall interviewed by Charles Johnston, Jr. Harper's Weekly.

END OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

Leaders, in Their Mad Struggle for Office, Urging It Toward the Abyss of Oblivion.

No party has ever been so indicted by its leaders as the Republican party is today. No other party leaders were ever driven to the consideration of such extremes as the Taft managers now have under advisement. They are frankly debating the wisdom of placing an independent ticket of Taft electors in states where electors run on the regular ticket, with Taft at the head, have announced their intention of voting for Roosevelt in the electoral college.

The fantastic possibility of Taft's losing in some states only on the regular party ticket, in other states on the regular and on an independent ticket, in still others on an independent ticket, his right to appear on the regular ticket, having been forfeited, is before us. And with Roosevelt approximately duplicating this unprecedented performance, the confusion, of course, becomes worse confounded.

It is not a mere party struggle. It is a riot of office-mad politicians. To the people as a whole, regardless of party lines, it is a loathsome exhibition. The Republicans are demonstrating what happens to a party when the foundations of personal good faith underlying all political activity is shattered.—St. Louis Republic.

Bitters, Neat.

The grand old party of Elihu Root and Jim Sherman is looking for a reliable tonic.—Emporia Gazette.

The Progressive Dixon.

Senator Joseph M. Dixon is the special messenger boy of Theodore Roosevelt. Senator Dixon is the manager of the Bull Moose campaign. Senator Dixon is a shining light of the Roosevelt type of progressives. He voted with Senator Aldrich on tariff matters 126 times. Mr. Roosevelt was a free trader in 1884. If he has changed his mind since, he ought to say so, and to give the reasons for his conversion, instead of leaving it to be guessed in this roundabout fashion.

FINDS ANCIENT RACE

Archaeological Remains of Importance Found in Peru.

Region Near Lake Titicaca Excavated and Tombs Buried 8,000 Years B. C. are Recovered.

San Francisco.—Archaeological remains of vast importance to the critical historian and anthropologist and which contribute valuable, new evidence, if not an entirely new theory, upon the origin and history of races, are being unearthed in Peru by treasure hunters and scientists, according to Charles R. Kehler, an American mining engineer, who arrived in San Francisco a few days ago from the land of the Incas. Mr. Kehler has just completed a mining survey of the region south of Lake Titicaca, and while prospecting near Arequipa, his Indian workmen discovered a number of small tombs, which proved to be the tombs of people of an ancient race.

The bodies had been embalmed in the same manner as the Egyptian mummies, and the tombs contained many statues and idols of immense interest in historic anthropology. One tomb contained the mummified remains of a princess in an excellent state of preservation. The body was found in a sitting posture, with the feet drawn up under the thigh and the hands folded across the breast. The body was wrapped in a long cloth of the finest linen, in which had been woven pictorial and hieroglyphical designs. The body was adorned with a heavy gold breast plate, necklaces, wristlets and anklets, and carried under each arm a golden vase. One of these vases was the deceased's cocoa bowl, in which a quantity of the prepared cocoa leaves and lime still remained.

Professor Hiram Bingham, who is at the head of an exploring expedition from Yale university, has made several similar discoveries, but what is considered more important than the tombs recovered is the finding of a number of idols and images which throws hitherto unknown light upon the customs and physiological peculiarities of the people.

The tombs discovered near Arequipa, according to the archaeologist, were closed at least 8,000 years B. C. They belong to a pre-Inca race, either the Chiriquis, Sauseras or the Huallas. Among the interesting images brought north by Mr. Kehler, one is of a god which bears a striking resemblance to the early Coptic reliefs found at Knossus, in Egypt. This statue is about two inches in length and is made of equal parts of gold, silver and copper, and is of exquisite workmanship.

Another image recovered to which attaches special interest is the figure of a man-god, the physical characteristics of which coincide with those of the mummified bodies. It also bears a resemblance to the Egyptian Anubis. The curved nose, running straight from the forehead, eyes and thick lips, are closely like the sculptured heads which have been recovered of Tahutmes III, Princess Neferet and of early Egyptian kings in limestone at Karnak.

These images, together with the methods of embalming, the art objects and household and industrial implements, it is believed, give strong grounds for concluding that the civilization of the Egyptians of the historic period and the ancient Peruvians came from the same source, or that the Egyptians got their civilization from the Peruvians.

Navy Forming a Radio Corps.

Washington.—The navy has begun the formation of a corps of efficient radio operators. Under an order issued by Acting Secretary of the Navy William Winthrop the assignments of wireless operators are to be permanent and the men must not, except in cases of emergency, be shifted to other work.

Love for Children Halts Suicide.

Fayetteville, N. C.—The love for his two little children, left orphans by the death of their mother, caused Sylvester Ballard to change his mind in regard to committing suicide as he hung in space over a 65-foot chasm. He called for help, and was rescued when he was ready to drop from exhaustion.

Enduring Poverty

Full Stomach Better Than Pretty Dresses

By MRS. M. E. ALLEN, Ukiah, Cal.

WHERE shall we skimp—in food or clothing? When we were married we talked the financial matter over and decided that if we were ever to come to an easy, comfortable old age we must begin to save at once. We decided to sacrifice a certain amount of social standing rather than economize on our table. We lived in the city and husband and I were always well dressed for church and street occasions, but never aspired to any social prestige because we could not. When our little girl was born, we spared no pains or expense to give her the best food obtainable. We wanted her to be physically perfect, for we knew that with a fine physique, mental qualities would develop in proportion. Once our family physician was called in to see her and when he inquired about her diet I remarked I was giving her meat broths and meat juices two or three times a week. "Yes," he said, "that's good. She's well nourished. One can see that. Our baby should have those things, too, but we just can't afford it. Gas and meats are so very high we can't do it." That week his wife incidentally remarked to me that her new fall hat cost $15. Jack and I were horrified that one could deny the baby things she needed and be so extravagant in dress. We would never, never do such a thing. We would never let our children be bowlegged, pale faced little creatures and us, animated fashion plates! Alas for our delusions!

Five years passed and Jennie was old enough to enter Sunday school. We got her a new cloak, hat and shoes and one dress for "best." She loved her Sunday school teacher and Sunday was Jennie's one day of all. She attended regularly for six weeks. Then our air castles fell. She came home one day crying as if her heart were broken. After much coaxing we got from her "that a girl at Sunday school had said we must be very, very poor, for she had worn the same dress to Sunday school for six weeks." This remark was made by a girl of ten years, who wore a silk dress and a diamond ring and other equally foolish and extravagant accessories. Of course, we knew this child of 10 had never thought that out. Some one in her home had made a remark like that and the child had passed the idea on. But we never could convince little 5-year-old Jennie of this. She only saw her own humiliation and no amount of coaxing would induce her to go back to Sunday school. Fortunately we moved from the city and she has forgotten it. She goes to Sunday school now and dresses better than we can afford to dress at the expense of our table. We decided it would be hunger-ache or heartache and so chose the former. It was a most difficult problem, but we think it has been solved.

Best Method of Punishing Young Child

By THOMAS C. RICE, Chicago

Why whip the children when there is another method? And never threaten the children. To do so places one under an unpleasant obligation. When the child does something that he should not, simply say to him in a kind way, "Do not do that." Then, provided the offense is committed again, you are at liberty to make a choice of punishments as you choose.

One of the finest methods is, after the deed, to ask: "Did not I tell you not to do that?" After a while the child will ask you for a favor and you can then refuse him by saying that he cannot have it because he did what you told him not to do. Make the statements simply, kindly and firmly. Such a method adopted soon becomes a habit and the children will understand it and it will be enjoyed by all parties concerned.

The average parent is angry to some extent when he undertakes to inflict corporal punishment. In which case he is in no condition to perform the act, because he has no idea as to how hard he strikes or how roughly he handles the child.

Use a mixture of kindness and firmness together with the very best judgment at your command in caring for the little ones, the same as you would desire of them when you again become the child in your dotage.

National Guard Is Adjunct of Army

By C. T. Dawson, Quincy, Ill.

The national guard is an organization founded for the purpose of protecting state and city property and to quell riots which are too great to be handled by the civil authorities. It is also a reserve force of the army, each man being called upon to do nine months' service.

Many persons form the belief that the national guard is used only to fight strikers and to protect "scabs." I can honestly say that it is founded for no such ideas.

The national guard offers a young man many club features, such as athletic meets, indoor baseball, basket ball, dancing, vaudeville, rifle practice.

The rifle practice is absolutely without expense to members, as ammunition and transportation are furnished by the state.

All equipment is furnished by the state and a member is entirely without expense.

Hurry and Worry Proving Our Undoing

By Sarah Boyle, Alameda, Cal.

Moderation in all things, advised St. Paul. There is a safe medium between the pace of an ox team that the old folks waited two or three days for and the speed of autos curving around corners into overcongested thoroughfares and the whizzing of lightning speeded motorcycles.

"All's well that ends well," and the tortoise oftentimes gets there first.

The hurried meals, the complexity of unwisely self-imposed obligations, the lack of backbone, which opposes with an emphatic "No" the desire of a morbidly constituted public which demands the sensational in sky, earth and water—are causes backing a great mortality in modern times.

Hurry and worry have almost done away with the fine art of meditation, which looks placidly at things present and largely and grandly into the eternal verities.

Sharp Pains In the Back

Point to Hidden Kidney Trouble.

Do you feel a sharp pain after bending over? When the kidneys seem sore and the action irregular, use Doan's Kidney Pills, which have cured thousands.

An Illinois Case. If H. Davis, 28 Commercial St., Danville, Ill., says: "I was completely laid up with kidney trouble and rheumatism. I spent several weeks in the hospital but was not helped. An old friend told me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and was entirely cured. I have had no trouble since."

Of the Bird Kind. "Say, pa?" "What is it?" "Is an aviary a hospital for aviators?"

Trouble's Way. "He always climbed a tree when he saw trouble coming." "He always climbed a tree when he was in trouble." "And what did trouble do?" "Set fire to the tree and smoked him out again."

Sounds Better. The feeling of many men with regard to public office is much the same as that which a certain distinguished Frenchman had toward the academy—that group of forty who are called "the immortals." He was asked one day why he did not propose his candidacy for the academy.

"Ah," said he, "if I applied and were admitted, some one might ask, 'Why is he in it?' and I should much rather hear it asked, 'Why isn't he in it?'"—Christian Register.

Second Hobo—Why, I am suffering from irrigation. First Hobo—Irrigation? You mean irrigation? Second Hobo—No, irrigation. Do woman in the wayside cottage emptied a pail of hot water on my head.

FAMILY RUNT

Kansas Man Says Coffee Made Him That.

"Coffee has been used in our family of eleven—father, mother, five sons and four daughters—for thirty years. I am the eldest of the boys and have always been considered the runt of the family and a coffee-topper."

"I continued to drink it for years until I grew to be a man, and then I found I had stomach trouble, nervous headaches, poor circulation, was unable to do a full day's work, took medicine for this, that and the other thing, without the least benefit. In fact I only weighed 116 when I was 28."

"Then I changed from coffee to Postum, being the first one in our family to do so. I noticed, as did the rest of the family, that I was surely gaining strength and flesh. Shortly after I was visiting my cousin who said, 'You look so much better—you're getting fat.'"

"At breakfast his wife passed me a cup of coffee, as she knew I was always such a coffee drinker, but I said, 'No, thank you.'"

"What?" said my cousin, "you quit coffee? What do you drink?"

"Postum," I said, "or water, and I am well." They did not know what Postum was, but my cousin had stomach trouble and could not sleep at night from drinking coffee three times a day. He was glad to learn about Postum, but said he never knew coffee would hurt anyone." (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee.)

"After understanding my condition and how I got well he knew what to do for himself. He discovered that coffee was the cause of his trouble as he never used tobacco or anything else of the kind. You should see the change in him now. We both believe that if persons who suffer from coffee drinking would stop and use Postum they could build back to health and happiness." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. Ever read the above letter. A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Health & Beauty Hints

By Katherine Morton

The beauty of the skin depends to a great extent upon the health of the sebaceous glands. These are little underlying ducts supplying the skin with the grease needed, and if their secretions are suppressed, the pores are stopped up and some complexion defect or other will result.

One must keep the pores of the skin unhampered of old oil and dead cuticle to have a good complexion, and when they seem inactive there is nothing to do but to resort to massage and very thorough bathing with hot water and a good soap. Cold water is useless against the dead sebum and grease of the skin, even with the aid of soap. Moreover, it tends to contract the pores, making it still harder for them to yield their contents. So as a preparation for helpful massage, which is meant further to clear the stopped-up pores, the face bath must not only be hot but very complete.

There is much contention that soap is injurious to the skin, but this is by no means true. The influences of soap are tonic, antiseptic and cleansing, so that a soap must really be very bad to hurt the skin—contain, in fact, the strong alkali which scorches and irritates. A good face bath with very hot water and a bland soap leaves a smooth skin like marble, and with repeated and systematic bathing the rough one is much improved. Work thick soap suds or a soap jelly well into the pores, and rinse with repeated waters. Rub it partly dry with a soft towel, and then sit down with a pot of good cold cream, or a little almond oil, and proceed with the massage.

Begin by massaging the muscles of the cheek just in front of the upper half of the ear, using the three first fingers of both hands. Rub outward and upward in a circular manner, with a firm yet gentle touch, covering a spot about the size of a silver dollar. If the muscles are correctly located, the upward motion will pull the skin taut about the corners of the mouth, rubbing out the drooping line at the side of the nose. If the face is heavily lined here, massage will in time strengthen the muscles that the furrows will be much softer, or disappear entirely.

Next massage the temple muscles in the same way. These are still more easily detected by the even greater influence they exert on the lines each side of the nose. The regular and systematic massage of the face will prevent the formation of crow's feet, those fine lines at the corners of the eyes which laughing faces with this skin take on so often at an early age.

Some ungent or other is undoubtedly required with massage, for otherwise the cuticle would be much irritated, and the benefits of any face cream are increased tenfold if it is used with massage. For the face constantly made-up with cosmetics, rouge and a fancy powder or liquid white, it is also necessary to cleanse the skin first with the grease before using—wash with soap, and then use the bath.

If the face skin is very delicate, do not dash cold water upon it after the hot bath, as this interferes with the circulation and is considered harmful by all the beauty people. Where the skin is very inactive two face steams could be taken a week, the massage immediately following these.

An astringent of a harmless and invigorating sort is often needed after massage, especially if the pores are inclined to be big, and all authorities agree that a first-class cologne is the best for this. A formula for farina cologne, which is much used in this way, follows below:

Oil of bergamot ..... 1 ounce
Oil of neroli ..... 6 drops
Oil of rosemary ..... 5 drops
Oil of lemon ..... 3 drops
Oil of cloves ..... 1 drop Oil of lavender ..... 1 drop Rectified spirit ..... 1 gallon

The druggist would put this formula more perfectly than it could be done at home, or else supply a bottle of German cologne, which would be very nearly as good.

Arranging the Veranda.

Do not crowd the veranda to overflowing with odds and ends, or all its comforts and charm will be dispelled. Arrangements should always be perfected to make it desirable as an outdoor living-room, well lighted at night and suitable for breakfast, luncheon, tea and even dinner. And if in a vicinity where mosquitoes and flies swarm, screens must completely inclose the porch space.

Dark Slippers.

At the present moment slippers of the paler tints are not considered good styles in Paris and footwear in richer shades of dark red, blue and violet combined with gold and silver are worn with gowns introducing those tones. These metal brocades can trace their popularity to the rich Oriental effects introduced by the evening gown.

Social Forms and Entertainments

From Brown Eyes.

Is it proper for me to go with a young man who is engaged to another? Am going with a young man whom I like very much; how am I to find out whether he cares for me? He has told me that he loved me, but I don't know whether to believe it or not. Haven't been going with him very long. Is it all right to go driving at night? Suggest something for a "gyp" tea; also something odd to entertain about six girls and boys. How should the invitations be written? Am going to have a visitor for a week. What must I do to entertain her all the time? I live in a small place where there are very few amusements.

BROWN EYES.

I should not think you would want to accept attention from a man who was engaged; it does not look right and I would not do it. I would not be in haste to believe all a man told me if I had known him but a short time; better go slow and let time settle the question of how much he thinks of you. I do not believe in girls going driving alone at night without a chaperon. I do not know what you mean by "gyp" tea, suppose you write and tell me about one for the benefit of the other readers of the column. For six girls and boys it is not necessary to write the invitations unless for a formal dinner party. Just ask them over the telephone or when you see them. Summer entertainings are always very informal. Do you think your visitor will wish to be amused "all the time"? I should have my friends meet her at a porch party in the afternoon or an evening card party or something like that.

A Variety of Questions.

Have read and enjoyed your answers in the paper so much, have decided to ask you to please answer a few questions for me.

Which color eyes and hair are counted the stronger, and which are most generally liked by the majority of people?

How often should a young man call upon a young lady during the week, and how late should he remain?

Would it look well for a girl to tell her friend of all her former love affairs when he seems very anxious to hear about them and insists that he should know?

Do you think a girl who is seventeen too young to have young men callers?

If you have not been introduced to a young man it is proper to speak to him when he always speaks to you, and how late should he remain?

"DIXIE GIRLIE."

Scientifically I do not know whether it has ever been proven which are the stronger, light or dark haired people. I think dark hair and eyes are greatly admired and I have heard in favor of the golden blond, although that type is said to lose its youth sooner than the darker haired, but I have seen it work both ways. It all depends upon how deeply interested a young man is. I should say the two or three times a week is often enough and ten-thirty late as he should stay on ordinary occasions. A girl must do as she thinks wise about her former love affairs. I do not think many affairs are to a girl's credit, I mean serious ones. Seventeen is plenty young enough for a girl to be in society. It all depends upon who the young man is whether you should speak to him. There is generally a way for a man to meet a girl by being properly introduced. I do not mind helping you out in the least.

Questions From Gladys.

I read your department every Sunday and would like to ask some questions. First, do you think it is all right for a girl fourteen to have boys at her party? Second, please give two or three games or contests to play when the boys and girls first come to keep it from being "stiff." Third, does the hair grow quicker plaited or hanging loose (at night)? Thank you for the help I have gotten from your department. I like it so much.

GLADYS S. B.

It is perfectly right to ask boys to your party, and they like to be asked. I put all the contests I can lay my hands on right into the department; perhaps the "Nautical" one in today's paper will help you. It is best to braid the hair very loosely at night after a thorough brushing to remove the dust of the day. Thank you for your kind words regarding the department.

Reply to "G. H." and "R. L."

I am very sorry I cannot answer your questions because I do not know; the best way to find out is to write direct in care of the stock company.

WHY COWS STOOD IN WATER

Artistic Limitations Responsible for Characteristic Attitude of the Humble Bovine.

In a north of England town there was a shiftless man who would never accept gifts outright, although he was always depending on charity, says Al Friddy in his book, "Through the Mill," relates the Youth's Companion.

He painted landscapes, and my aunt, when benevolently inclined, would hire him to decorate our walls with rural scenes, highly colored in glaring tints, as if nature had turned color blind. Not one stood on the vivid green hills.

"Jorvey," she remarked to the old man, "why do you always put the cows in the water?"

"It's this way, Mrs. Brindin," the old artist responded. "You see, ma'am, I never learned to paint hoofs."

He Was Willing to Work.

The Democratic members of the house of representatives have been besieged over by a horde of office seekers, willing to serve their country.

"It is refreshing," said one representative in discussing the office question, "to hear of an aspirant for public office who frankly admits his ambition, yet disdains to seek a position in which he will have nothing to do but to draw his salary."

"Two wayside pilgrims were talking over things when one of them asked: 'Dick, you ain't a hankerin' after no government place, are ye?'"

"I don't mind sayin' I'd take one of 'em if I could git it," responded the other, "but I don't want no job that's all fat. I'm willin' to earn my wages."

"An' what sort o' job would be about your size?"

"Well, I'd like to fill fountain pens for some assistant secretary of the treasury,"—Judge.

Making Himself at Home.

Doris was radiant over a recent addition to the family, and rushed out of the house to tell the news to a passing neighbor.

"Oh, you don't know what we've got upstairs!"

"What is it?"

"It's a new baby brother!"—and she settled back upon her heels and folded her hands to watch the effect.

"You don't say so? Is he going to stay?"

"I guess so,"—very thoughtfully—"He's got his things out."

Insular School System.

The remarkable development in the American public school system in the Philippine Islands, which has been modified during the last ten years to meet local conditions, is to be carried on with still greater vigor. The federal bureau of insular affairs has recently completed the election of over 100 American teachers for service in those schools, all of these young men and women coming from the best universities, colleges and normal schools in almost every section of the United States, and were selected from a large list of eligible candidates that ever before applied for such positions.

Rare Books for Harvard.

Harry Elkins Widener, who was lost on the Titanic, had a very valuable collection of books, and these will go to Harvard university. His grandfathers, P. A. B. Widener, will provide a building in which the books will be adequately housed. The collection includes a first folio Shakespeare, a copy of Shakespeare's poems in the original binding, and what is described as the finest collection in the world of Robert Louis Stevenson's works.

Congratulations.

Prize Fighter (entering school with his son)—You give this boy o' mine a thrashin' yesterday, didn't you?

Schoolmaster (very nervous)—Well—I or—perhaps—

Prize Fighter—Well, give us your 'n'd, you're a champion. I can't do nothin' with 'im myself—Punch.

A man spends a good portion of his time deceiving himself, and a woman spends a good portion of hers before a mirror. It's the same thing.

BEYOND LIMIT OF PATIENCE

Uses of the Telephone Will Be Apt to Condone Mr. Busman's Brief Loss of Temper.

He was just about exasperated with the telephone, was Mr. Busman. Ten times that morning he had tried to get on to a number, and each time something had prevented him from speaking. Either it was "sum-bet engaged," or the person he "wanted to speak to was out, or else he had been suddenly cut off. At last he got through.

"Hello!" said he. "Is Mr. X. there?"

"Yes," replied a voice. "Do you want to speak to him?"

That was the last straw. Back came the reply in icy tones:

"Oh, no! Nothing of the sort. I'm sorry to hear of it. I'm sorry to hear of it."

TOO MUCH.

Mr. Melvil Dewey, state librarian of New York, said recently that libraries would do well to furnish free music rolls for player-pianos, just as they now furnish books.

"In Toledo," said Mr. Dewey the other day, "my project has been lately inaugurated. It will accomplish much for the musical art."

Then, apropos of music and ignorance, Dr. Dewey told a story.

"A certain governor," he said, "was being lunched at a seaside town. During the repast the local band played on the beach outside the hotel. The drum was in charge of a blacksmith, and he beat it so reasonably that at last this message was sent out:

"The governor requests the drummer to desist."

"The bandmaster was puzzled by this message for a moment; then his face brightened in a smile, and he said:

"More drum, Joe; the governor likes it."

Our Feathered Friends.

Rose Pastor Phelps-Stokes, during a recent visit to Philadelphia, told a charity society a country week story.

"Under an old apple tree," she said, "I gathered a half-dozen little country-weekers about me one August afternoon, and, holding up a book, I said:

"Now, children, I'm going to read to you. This is the book. It is called 'Our Feathered Friends.' Who are our feathered friends, does any one know?"

"The urchins on the grass regarded one another doubtfully; then a little chap piped in a shrill cry:

"Angels!"

Awful.

A West End woman called the attention of her husband to a little baby which was trying to sleep on the porch of its home on the opposite side of the street.

"It's lying on the bare boards, isn't it?" he observed.

"Yes, they haven't even placed a rug for the little chap to rest his head on."

The husband took another look.

"And what do you think of that?" he ejaculated. "They haven't even painted the boards!"—Youngtown (O.) Telegram.

"Exclamatory" Was Right.

Mrs. Mason's colored washerwoman, Martha, was complaining of her husband's health.

"Why is he sick, Martha?" asked Mrs. Mason.

"He's vey 'poly, ma'am, 'poly," answered the woman. "He's got the 'exclamatory rheumatism."

"You men 'exclamatory, Martha," said the parson. "Exclamatory means to cry out."

"Yes, ma'am," replied Martha, with conviction; "dat's what it is. He hollers all the time!"—Judge.

Real Problem.

"Do you think we can defeat this man?" asked the campaign manager.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, "but I won't be satisfied with that. What I want to hand him is some kind of a defeat that he won't be able to use as a personal advertisement for future business."

Fix Your Faith to Galloway County

WE ARE PRESENTING HEREWITH one of the largest and most select list of farm lands ever offered by a single agency in this county. Look them over and convince yourself that our claim is correct. We have only been in the business a few months and have transferred scores of farms. If you want to buy this fall see us, or if you want to sell give us your list at the earliest date possible that we might properly place it before the buyer. Call at the Ledger office or see Mr. J.
